The Mission, History and Works of the Sisters of Social Service

The Sisters of Social Service is a religious community of women whose focus is to share in the social mission of the Church by embracing the many needs of society arising from social, religious, economic, environmental, cultural and civic inequalities.

Sr. Frederica Horvath emigrated to the U.S. from Hungary, founding the Sisters of Social Service in Los Angeles in 1926. The SSS ministries addressed the needs and challenges of those struggling individuals and families living in poverty. In 1963, the Sisters began ministries in Mexico and Taiwan, and in 1994, expanded their works to serve the people of the Philippines, as well.
